The Vibe

While nature and technology continue to fuse together into new hybrid ecosystems, fashion continues its search for new materials and products that straddle the ever-thinning line between the physical and digital worlds. Performance is everything and sustainability is key, and chosen as much for how they appear on screen as on the catwalk, fabric itself will sink or swim a collection. It's now about long-term appeal, both in terms of quality and design, and minimizing waste. Patterns and tailoring are pushing the boundaries from the two to three-dimensional as a new era of occasion wear is ushered in with a flourish of fantastical constructions and fondant-like silhouettes.

Explore and experiment with pattern cutting and abstract animal prints.
